We are less than two weeks away from the Back to the Future fundraiser! So far we've lined up some great silent auction items from local area merchants. The InCap group, and Sky Modern, are preparing a 3D rendering of a proposed streetcar station, and its link to one of the planned mixed-use development projects in Oak Cliff. For anyone unfamiliar with the venue, the Ice House Banquet Hall is home of the original Southland Ice Company. Southland, which began in 1927, would gain wider attention many years later, when an enterprising employee would combine convenience items with the shops ice making business. The success of this model would completely change the stores operations, and they'd later change identity to what we all know today as 7-Eleven.
